

Manal Hamdan

Manal has 17 years' experience as a litigator in NSW, both as a lawyer and barrister. While she maintains a broad common law practice, she has developed specialised expertise in the areas of insurance and professional negligence, regularly briefed in trials, applications and in professional discipline proceedings.

Manal routinely appears in a variety of jurisdictions both led and unled, including in the New South Wales Court of Appeal, Supreme Court, and District Court. She also appears in Coronial inquests, both as counsel assisting and for interested parties.
